

World's Largest Selection of USA Made 550 Paracord
in 1,000 + Colors
and Patterns

Two Strand Diamond Knot

Materials

Two pieces of paracord at 6-8 inches each

paracordgalaxy.com

Click here for our tutorials page

paracordgalaxy.com

paracordgalaxy.com

A diamond knot is a great for lanyards or in place of a buckle.

paracordgalaxy.com

Start by bringing the two cords between your fingers as shown with the bracelet at the back of your hand.

paracordgalaxy.com

Step 1: Form a loop with the right cord with the working end on the bottom.

Step 2: Pull the top of the loop to the left and lay it across the left cord.

World's Largest Selection of
USA Made 550 Paracord
in 1,000 + Colors
and Patterns

Step 3: Bring the left cord under the working end of the right cord so that it now points up.

Step 4: With the same left cord, bring it down and under itself and over the left side of the loop as shown.

Pull the left cord until your knot looks like this.

Step 5: Continuing with the same left cord, bring it around and lay it under the right side of your knot.

Step 6: Now bring the left cord past the right cord in between your fingers and up through the center of your knot.

Step 7: With the right cord, bring it around and past the left cord in between your fingers and up through the middle.

ParacordGalaxy.com

World's Largest Selection of
USA Made 550 Paracord
in 1,000 + Colors
and Patterns

You should have both working ends now looking like this.

Pull both working ends and gently squeeze your knot until it rounds out.

paracordgalaxy.com

If you want to move your knot closer to your bracelet, shorten the strands by pushing one strand at a time toward the knot and pulling the slack throughout. Once it is positioned and tightened, trim and melt the excess.